Mining Men Are Returning

George Murphy and J. G. Galvin, two of the prominent men who have taken hold of a large mining area in the Dease Lake country arrived down the river last Monday. The men went into the country via Wrangell some time ago, taking in with them the only steam drill ever going into the country with which they will prospect their claims there.

The report a hard trip taking the drill into Dease Lake but that after a strenuous trip arrived at the claims and set up the drill and as it was getting late and business of importance calls them back to Seattle they wanted to catch a boat down the river they returned.

Thd men are both old time mining men and they state that they never handled property that looked better than where they are now. The men will return in the spring with a large crew and thoroughly go over the ground.

Notice To Wrangell Firemen

All members of the Wrangell Fire Department are requested to be present at the meeting of the company next Monday evening.

Sure Some Duck Hunt

Dr. Dawes, Billy Hood and Geo. LaBounty made a trip over to the duck flats last Saturday on the good ship Tonic. And according to reliable parties who happened to be hunting the same day, the only one of the party that got any ducks was Billy and when we interviewed Billy he stated he got 36, and if there is any of his friends around who did not get one of them to call around and tell him and he is assured one the next trip.

Moose Orchestra Giving Dance

The Moose Orchestra have dodgers out for a big dance to be given at Red Men's Hall next Saturday night. The Orchestra state that they have something new in the music line on tap and as the admission is only fifty cents you can't afford to miss it.

London, Sept. 30—The report reached here this afternoon that the Germans have begun a siege of the outer defences of Antwerp, the reports state that the Belgians have driven the Germans back in one direction.

Passengers Get Left

There were several passengers from Wrangell to take the City of Seattle south last night but when the vessel arrived in port she had a capacity load and refused to take a one. This is something that the steamships companies should try to give us a little better in, as several boats lately have hit Wrangell the same way and no matter how bad a person wanted to get south it is impossible. The companies always make it a point to save enough rooms from Skagway for Juneau and Douglas passengers but they don't care a hoop whether Wrangell passengers get any accommodations or not. We want the steamship companies to remember that Wrangell is on the map.

Dr. Emery Returns From Telegraph

Mayor Dr. Emery returned from a business trip up to Telegraph the first of the week and is again back at his office. Mr. Emery expects to leave again in a week or so for the West Coast and any one having any dental work to be done are asked to call at once.

FOR SALE—Household furniture. Inquire at T. J. Case.

Billy Shoots Up Hotel

Billy Woodworth was the cause of considerable excitement at the Wrangell Hotel last Sunday morning when a shot gun he was taking from behind the counter went off and scattered shot into the wall. It seems that Billy had placed the gun behind the counter thinking that it was not loaded and when he went to get it Sunday took hold of the barrel pulling it out when the hammer caught and set the gun off the shot passing pretty close to Billy's head. The shot went into the bottom of the telephone box doing little damage other than scarring the loungers in the lobby who all swore they were shot, but we understand that Billy was the worse scared of the bunch and is now offering the gun for sale at the first offer he gets.

Next Sunday Is Peace Day

Sunday, October 4, is the day set aside by President Wilson as Peace Day and in a Proclamation he has asked every American to that day attend their respective churches and add their voice in a nation wide prayer for peace in Europe.

German Army On The Run

London, Oct. 1—The war office issued the statement this afternoon the German lines everywhere are breaking and it is believed that they will be in full retreat in very short order.

Germans Begin Attack On Antwerp

Antwerp, Sept. 30—The German army began a long range bombardment of this city this morning. Nearly all of the inhabitants of the city have fled. It is reported here that the information comes from reliable sources that the Kaiser is determined to take this city as he is planning on making it a temporary base for his Zeppelin fleet for use in making raids on the British Islands.

Germany Claims Still There

Berlin, Sept. 30—The war office issued a statement this afternoon to the effect that the German right wing in France still remains intact and that the repeated assaults of the allies have been successfully repulsed. After a long and terrible battle the German troops are slowly gaining ground along the Meuse.

J. R. Heckman, Non-partisan candidate for Representative is in Wrangell in the interest of his campaign.

Appoints The Election Board

The City Fathers met in a special session in the Council Chambers last Tuesday night for the purpose of appointing the election board for the coming election. The board appointed as Judges, Chas. Bryant, Frank Spaulding and Earl West, as clerks C. E. Weber, and Thos. J. Case. The notices of Election have been posted.

Wrangell Restaurant Changes Hands

A deal was made today whereby Frank Morikawa of the Panama Cafe takes over the Wrangell Restaurant. Frank has had a lease on the Panama which expires today and from now on that place will be closed and Frank will continue to serve his first class meals at the new location.

Wrangell Patient Reported Dead

In a letter from the Governors office in Juneau, received the first of the week, it states that Mrs. Anna Dick, who was sent to the asylum in Oregon from here recently passed away at that place.

Geo. Kluquits Passes Away

Mr. George Kluquits, one of the best known native boys of Wrangell, passed away at his home some time during the early hours of this morning. The deceased has been suffering since the fourth of July from quick consumption and for the past month has been ailing fast. It is presumed that he had a fainting spell and went out on the porch for fresh air as his body was discovered about six thirty by G. A. Fletcher lying there.

The deceased was about thirty years of age, and born in Wrangell and spent his life here. He has only one living relative, a sister, Mrs. Al. Osborn.

Russian Lost In The Woods

The report has reached town that Jack Brown, better known as Russian Jack, is lost in the woods somewhere on the southern end of Etolin Island. The marshals office has dispatched a searching party to try and locate him.

The big cannery ship of the Alaska Packers Association is all loaded and waiting to be towed to sea on her trip to Frisco.

Townsite Survey and What It Means

It is with feeling of decided relief that the citizens of Wrangell view the speedy way that the Townsite Survey is being pushed to a close under the efficient work of Mr. Warner. For several years nothing has held back the growth and prosperity of our city to the extent of the unsettled townsite survey, and once this is mended Wrangell will be on the verge of the best times she has ever seen. Wrangell is the only town of any importance in Alaska where there is no bank, and the reason is the unsettled condition of the townsite, as a bank cannot live on its deposits alone and with the existing conditions here they would be held at that, but with the settlement of the survey the barriers will be thrown down and Wrangell will have a bank and many kindred industries will be a thing of reality. And with this coming wave of prosperity lets all boost harder for our city and let 'em all know that Wrangell is the city with a future.

Dangerous Condition.
Crawford—I hear he was operated on. What did he have? Crabshaw—Money.—New York Times.

Relations Became Strained.
Mrs. Ambish—I often tell my husband I wish he had more "get up and get" about him. Mrs. Jellers—Ipdeed? I've often heard that he gets up and gets his own breakfast.—Chicago Tribune.

His Trade.
"The man passing over there is such a time server."
"I despise that kind."
"No reason to despise him. He is such a good clockmaker."—Baltimore American.

That's Why.
"You say you conceal nothing from your wife?"
"Absolutely nothing."
"And why do you not?"
"It is evident that you do not know my wife."—Houston Post.

The Foot Astray.
William F. Cody was once relating a story which concerned an Indian who had met with an accident in a Buffalo Bill show. It was necessary to amputate the Indian's leg, and in the description of this operation Cody was interrupted frequently by a young doctor who injected technical and medical terms into the straight vernacular of the scout. He was irritated, but ignored the doctor. A few days after the operation, "the Indian learned that his leg had been buried. With a whoop he leaped from his bed and jumped upon the doctor with both feet."
"Jumped with both feet after an operation?" shouted the doctor, exulting in his exposure of the great scout's absurd story.
"I said upon the doctor with both feet," explained Cody, "in order to distinguish him from the other hospital physician, who had only one foot, having put the other two people's affairs so often that he lost it."

Soap Scraps.
Put your small pieces of soap in a little bag and toss it in the wash boiler. When the washing is completed the undissolved pieces will still be in the bag for the next washday, instead of on the line, where they are sure to make scorch places when ironed.

The Alhambra.
The ancient home of Spain's Moorish kings, the Alhambra at Granada, built in 1273, is falling to ruin. Eight of its magnificent towers were destroyed by the French many generations ago.

Parrots in India.
Parrots are taught in India to spend a large part of their time repeating the names of gods, and such a spokesman brings a great price, especially among business men, who imagine that, by owning such a parrot, their spiritual treasures are accumulating while they attend to their usual occupations.

Wool Waste.
All efforts to find a substitute for wool waste in the capacity of packing for the journal box of a railroad car have been unsuccessful.

Patagonia Panthers.
The panther on the plains of Patagonia gets as near a herd of guanacos as it can, then lies down behind a bush on its back. It puts one paw up in the air, then another, then the third and fourth and after a bit all four at once. That seems curious to the guanacos, and they come close to investigate. Up jumps the panther and lights on the nearest one's back and breaks its neck.

Extreme Penalty in Italy.
Capital punishment was abolished in Italy in 1888.

Iron and Rust.
Experiments made in Germany respecting the protection of iron from rust by paint prove that one coat of paint is more efficacious than two or three, as a single coat is more elastic and less liable to scale off or crack, and thus affords more protection from atmospheric influences.

College and School.
Over 1,250,000 pupils attend high schools in the United States.
Erasmus Hall high school, Flatbush, N. Y., is shortly to celebrate its one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday.
Among the regular students at American colleges and universities during the year 1911-12 were 4,856 from foreign lands.
One hundred and sixty-seven undergraduates, or about 12 per cent of the entire student body, at Princeton university are either wholly or partially working their ways through college.

"So's my son. That's why he wrote it."—Baltimore American.

She—Oh, don't! It must be awful not to have any brains.—Judge.

Gabe—Has Jones a good memory?

Willis—Then he was really an honest congressman? Gillis—He was frankness itself. When he retired he said he felt as if the country had served him long enough.—Puck.

Bacon—Did you ever notice how slow he moves? Egbert—Yes, he inherits that trait. His people were great chess players, you know.—Yonkers Statesman.

"Mrs. Codgers is dreadfully afraid of embonpoint," remarked Mrs. Gadelery. "Is that so?" chirped Mrs. Wopper. "My favorite aunt had it, and the poor thing just wasted away!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HOW A MOTOR "TALKS."

The Sympathy That May Come Between the Animate and Inanimate.
"One day my chauffeur was taken ill, and I drove myself in. left the car standing in a side street during the day, and drove home at night," said a suburbanite. "Then, for the first time, I began to sense the feeling of mutuality or mutual sympathy, if such an expression may be permitted between animate and inanimate things, between the machine and myself. Several trips by myself confirmed the sensation; then I bought another car for the family and now drive myself regularly in this one."
"I have often thought of the stories told by locomotive engineers in which their great engines are endowed with almost mental faculties. There are enough of them to fill a book, but I never considered them seriously until I began with this car. Sometimes the engine sings; sometimes it purrs. I know its 'wing' and its 'purr.' If anything is the matter with it it tells it in a language entirely intelligible to me. It responds to my lightest touch in all its functions, but once," and here his voice became grave. "It refused to run into an unlighted ditch where I was trying to steer it. I looked for half an hour for the trouble with the steering apparatus, but could find nothing wrong."—Suburban Life.

INSTINCT IN PLANTS.

Actions That Seem to Indicate Some Sort of Nervous System.
Plants sometimes appear to possess reasoning power. Charles Darwin instanced the case of the rootlet, which, piercing its way through the soil and detecting a stone or lump of hard clay in its path, will go round it without touching it. "How does the rootlet or plant know that the stone is there?" he asks. "Certainly it cannot see it and as it does not touch it cannot feel it. The avoidance therefore seems to be in the nature of perception of some kind which is a mental operation."
The species of mimosa known as the sensitive plant will contract its leaves even at the sound of a footstep, and when such a plant is being transplanted it crumples up during the process in such a way that it really appears to be suffering from fear. Afterward it recovers and resumes its ordinary mode of life.
Plants undoubtedly possess consciousness of a kind which enables them to carry out certain operations necessary to their preservation, and this can only be done through the possession of some sort of nervous system.—London Standard.

A Great Fuel Consumer.

More fuel is consumed in the city of Pittsburgh and its immediate vicinity and more coal is shipped to and through the Pittsburgh district than in any other district in the world, according to Edward W. Parker of the United States geological survey. With a population of about one-ninth of that of Greater New York the consumption of coal alone in Pittsburgh is nearly equal to that of the much larger city. Greater New York consumed in 1911 approximately 19,000,000 short tons, and Pittsburgh used about 16,500,000 short tons. But Pittsburgh consumes several million tons of coke and considerable quantities of natural gas, which, added to the coal consumption, gives that city a good lead over New York as a fuel consumer.

Economical Reflectors.

Reflectors that may be attached to any electric light, called asymmetrical reflectors, may now be obtained. Their purpose is to throw the bulk of the light from the lamp in one direction. They are especially useful in illuminating long halls for throwing light into closets, in the bathroom for shaving or wherever more light is needed in a certain spot. Where such reflectors are employed a smaller lamp may be used, thus cutting down the cost of current.

Water Used in the Steel Industry.

Great quantities of water at medium pressures are used in a steel plant, most of it for cooling purposes. The following gives a good idea of the water required by the several departments of a steel plant: The total consumption of the plant, including six blast furnaces, seven rolling mills, bessemer and open hearth steel mills, twenty-four gas engines and about a hundred gas producers, was 57,500,000 gallons per day. The average daily displacement of the pumps for one month during the time these measurements were taken was 60,877,000 gallons, no allowance being made for slip. The pumps used for pumping this cooling water in steel plants are about the same type as those used in city pumping stations, steam reciprocating pumps with compound or triple steam cylinders or motor driven centrifugal pumps. The usual water pressures are from forty to sixty pounds.—Robert A. Streeter in Engineering Magazine.

Lightning Strokes Investigated.

The results of an exhaustive investigation of lightning strokes in the United States by the department of agriculture disposes of the notion that certain kinds of trees are immune from these strokes. It asserts that any kind of tree is likely to be struck by lightning. It shows that the Colorado plateau has more strokes than any other section.

Stretching Tight Fitting Shoes.

A tight fitting shoe can be stretched by filling it tightly with oats dampened in water and packing some old paper in the top. The grain will quickly swell, and, as the leather will get softened by the dampness, the shoe will be rapidly stretched. Allow time for the oats to dry before removing them.
